NOTICE
—TO—
GAS CONSUMERS.

IN compliance with a pledge made in their communication of February last, to the Hon. Mayor and Board of Aldermen, the

Memphis Gas-Light Company

have determined to reduce the price on their sales of Gas supplied on and after the

First Day of December next to the lowest rate then deemed possible, allowing a small profit on the capital invested, and pledge themselves that the price then established shall range among

THE LOWEST RATES CHARGED

in other Southern and Southwestern cities.

Their apparatus, lately at great expense improved and extended, enables them to supply as pure, strong and brilliant gas light as that supplied any where in the United States.

With reference to a much threatened opposition in business, which they do not deem probable, they further hereby give notice to their patrons and the public, that in case of an actual competition they will supply their demands at

One-Third, or Less than One-Third the Rates Established by such Competitors.

Their Works were constructed with a view of remunerating the owners for their investment, and as for the public convenience. Nor withstanding such intention, they will sell cheaper than

Light at a Mere Fraction of the price asked by any competing or opposing Company.

A Card.

WE will at once rebuild our warehouse, and will have it completed by the 15th of September, when the first day of that month we will be ready to receive goods on store.

The sheds will be divided in to fire proof compartments by brick walls, and covered with tin. Those who have patronized us so far for the last two seasons, and those who may have proposed to do so the approaching one, may rest assured we will be ready for them.

We design establishing a Cotton Compress in connection with our war house, upon an account of which we will be ready by the first October or sooner. The proximity of our establishment to the river renders the handling of cotton so convenient that we can transfer cotton for shipment by river from our drays. The advantage of the position is equal to one drayage on all cotton sent for compressment from other warehouses, while on all cotton in our warehouse for compressment there can be two drayages saved, since it would be as easy for us to transfer it from our shed to the Compress as to turn it out in the ordinary way for transfer by drays

FASSMAN'S IRON TIES
—FOR—
COTTON BALES.

THE undersigned have made extensive arrangements to supply the demand for these Ties the present season.

In addition to the FASSMAN IRON TIE and BUTTON TIE, so extensively used heretofore, they now offer his ALLIGATOR TIE, with teeth so arranged as to instantly clamp the hoop when the pressure is removed from the bale, and hold it without slipping.

Great pains have been taken to secure the best quality of iron.

These Ties are so simple in their arrangement that they can be applied by any one, to bales of any size, with the same facility and expedition as rope. In strength, security and facility of application, they will compare favorably with any yet introduced.

The advantages of Iron Ties are now generally recognized; but it is deemed not out of place to call the attention of those interested to the very simple and practical construction of Underwriters, Steamboat Captains, and Owners and Agents of Steamers and Sailing Vessels, formally published in the newspapers in New Orleans.

Our Latest Improved
NEW SCALE PIANO-FORTE.
GROVESTEEN & CO.,
499 Broadway, N. Y.

THESE instruments, after the most flattering testimonials from the first Pianists in the United States, which, as our publication, have tested them in the severest manner possible, have been pronounced THE FINEST SQUARE PIANO-FORTE MADE IN THE WORLD.

It has always been our policy during the thirty-six years that we have manufactured Pianos, some thousand of which are now in use in the United States and Europe, to give the utmost natural tone of which the instrument is capable, and their coming child might be born on American soil, as would become a possible future President of the United States. The journey was a most troublesome one, and the lady came very near being shipwrecked; but at last reached this country in safety. The child was born, and it was a girl.

SENATOR SUMNER has started on his western lecturing tour, having nearly thirty engagements to fill before the assembling of Congress. His lecture is entitled, "Are we a Nation?" and is in opposition to State rights and in favor of negro suffrage. He will make five or six thousand dollars by the lectures, to say nothing of "firing the hearts" of the people.

The Ohio Statesman says the next Legislature will be politically divided as follows: Senate—Republicans, 17; Democrats, 20; majority, 3. House—Republicans, 47; Democrats, 56; majority, 7, being on a joint ballot a Democratic majority of ten members.

AT a recent railway festival the following striking sentiment was given: "Our mothers—the only faithful tenders who never misplaced a switch."

MEMPHIS APPEAL.

SELF-RESPECT.

We take the following from the New York Tribune. Although not complete, they suffice for the purpose for which we wish to use them.

ALABAMA—OFFICIAL VOTE.

The following is the vote upon the question of Constitutional Convention, and the number of registered voters in each county, as far as heard from:

There are only about fourteen small counties to be heard from, and they will not change the result. In the counties above, 8862 more than enough to carry the Convention have voted. Indeed, it is carried by the yeas alone.

LOUISIANA.

So far the New Orleans papers have returns showing that 8854, more than a majority, have voted upon the Convention. Here are the latest figures:

Parishes.	Votes polled.	No. reg'd.
W. Baton Rouge	672	1,049

E. Baton Rouge	2,779	3,815
Madison	1,447	1,988
Total	50,759	84,808

Returns are yet to come from twenty-one parishes, in which it is estimated that 41,049 more than a majority of the whole registered votes will be polled. If this estimate should prove correct, the majority will be upward of 12,000

The negro majority, registered, in Alabama, is about 15,500; in Louisiana, about 40,000.

In Alabama, forty-eight counties, having 146,480 registered voters, gave 76,925 votes for a Convention, and 4978 against it. Of course, 64,517 persons registered did not vote at all.

In Louisiana, in twenty-seven Parishes, having 84,938 voters registered, 50,759 votes only were polled. That is, 34,179 did not vote at all. In the Parish of Orleans, 30,147 votes were registered, and only 12,841 votes were polled—not nearly one-half.

Thus, in two States only, 98,996 men who are registered do not vote, and in one of them 4978 vote against a Convention. How many do so in the other, we have not the means now at hand of knowing.

It is quite evident that the white men of Louisiana and Alabama propose to let Radicalism have the full benefit of the large elephant it has won in the shape of negro-suffrage. Helping men to avoid the consequences of their knavery or folly, is a business that never pays; and voting with negroes to keep Radicals in office will pay still less.

The New York World says:

Here, though from the slowness of returns in a necessarily imperfect form, are some of the black majorities, representing just so much pauperism imposing taxes on property, and just so much brutal ignorance laying down the law to culture:

	Whites.	Negroes.
Alabama	5,000	15,511
Arkansas		5,000
Florida	1,886	4,075
Georgia		39,142
Louisiana		17,865
Mississippi	3,903
North Carolina		24,885
South Carolina		112,016
Texas	13,667
Virginia
Total	24,455	87,909
Negro majority

Remembering that TENNESSEE has a negro majority of, in round numbers, 30,000—remembering also that these figures, as above given for the other States, are being daily swelled for the blacks out of all manner of proportion to any white increase; and then remembering again that the proportion of white voters at the recent elections for a Convention was in Louisiana one out of ten, and in Alabama, taking Mobile—a white stronghold—as an example, as 100 to 7921, it can readily be seen how the negro will rule this country if the change of popular disapprobation be not put on a policy that tends inevitably to that end. Ten large and beautiful States—just think of it—to be handed over to barbarism; and then this control made, by the working of the balance of power, to extend itself to all the rest of this great family of States. Truly the banks of the Volga and the Mississippi do not, in all senses, present the same view. The autocracy stopped with the emancipation of the serf—the Great Republic is rushing to the enslavement of the free.

NOVEMBER ELECTIONS.

The following States are yet to hold their elections. All come off in November except that in West Virginia, which takes place October 24th:

West Virginia, Tuesday, Oct. 24—Members of the House of Delegates.

Massachusetts, Tuesday, Nov. 5—Governor, Lieut. Governor, Secretary, Treasurer, Auditor, Attorney General, Councillors, State Senators and Representatives.

New York, Tuesday, Nov. 5—Secretary of State, Controller, Treasurer, Attorney General, State Engineer, one Inspector of State Prisons, State Senators, and Members of Assembly.

New Jersey, Tuesday, Nov. 5—One-third of the State Senators, (7) and the Members of the House of Representatives.

Wisconsin, Tuesday, Nov. 5—Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State, Treasurer, Superintendent Public Instruction, Attorney General, Bank Controller, State Prison Commissioner, State Senators and Representatives.

Maryland, Wednesday, Nov. 6—Controller of the Treasury, two Commissioners of Public Works, one-half of the State Senate (11), and members of the House of Representatives. The Legislature to be elected will have the right to elect a United States Senator to succeed Senator Johnson, whose Senatorial term will expire on March 4, 1869.

Kansas, Wednesday, Nov. 6—Members of the House of Representatives.

As illustrative of Mr. Train's intense eccentricity, we may relate that he, on one occasion, sent his wife on a ninety days' voyage from Australia to New York, that their coming child might be born on American soil, as would become a possible future President of the United States. The journey was a most troublesome one, and the lady came very near being shipwrecked; but at last reached this country in safety. The child was born, and it was a girl.

VIGOROUS POLICY ANNOUNCED BY THE PRESIDENT.

His Cabinet is Positively to be Changed.

Preparations to Resist Congressional Usurpations.

Gen. Sherman to Play a Prominent Part.

Voorhees Addresses a Vast Concourse.

Emphatic Propositions for the Radicals.

Telegraphic Correspondence of the Louisville Courier.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., October 16.

MY POLICY.

The determination of the President to change the Cabinet has been repeatedly alluded to in this correspondence. There is authority to repeat the same with full permission of the President. It was suggested to him this afternoon that the great popular verdict, indorsing his policy, would prevent the further agitation of impeachment. The President replied that he thought not, but apprehended that the Radical leaders would become even more desperate, and hesitate at nothing to accomplish their revolutionary purposes.

In response to a question of his course should the Radicals attempt to depose him before trial, he said: "Resist, Sir! with all the power which the Constitution furnishes for its own protection and preservation." This was said with great warmth and earnestness. It would be criminal, he said, not to resist an effort on the part of Congress to usurp upon or destroy the Executive Department, and he thought it well for the country to know his opinions and his purposes. In relation to Cabinet changes, he said he would strengthen himself for any emergency that might arise. Circumstances, he said, necessitated a change, and this should be done before Congress met in session.

The President declared he would not consult or be governed by party cliques, but act on his own judgment, and for what he thought was the best interest of the country. It was his intention to draw around him men of nerve, ability, and patriotism.

SHERMAN.

In answer to an inquiry about Gen. Sherman, he said: "I can assure you that Gen. Sherman will be here between the 10th and 17th of November, and in ample time for the discharge of any duty, however responsible, which may devolve upon him." The General, he further said, had deemed it best to return to his command to meet the Indian Peace Commission, as he had promised, and, that done, he would return forthwith to Washington.

The President evidently expects to avert any trouble by being prepared to meet it.

VOORHEES.

Voorhees was serenaded to-night, and spoke to a vast crowd. He said the victory won by the people of Ohio meant to redeem the South from the horrors of negro supremacy, and save the country from Radical misrule and ruin. It also meant that money good enough for the poor man was good enough for the rich bondholder, and he now served a notice on the pampered class of money vultures and shoddy contractors, that if they did not pay taxes on the bonds or reduce the interest, the bonds would be paid off in greenbacks. The Democracy would fight it out on this line, and not allow the Radicals to shirk the issue they created. The speech was interrupted frequently with manifestations of satisfaction and general approbation.

Montgomery Blair also spoke.

UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT.

Important Decision with Regard to Mercantile Agencies—Communications not Privileged.

BEFORE JUDGE NELSON.

Lewis Tappan vs. John and Horace Beardsley.—This was a suit against Tappan for libel and slander of the defendants in respect to their credit as a mercantile firm, carrying on business in Norwalk, Huron county, Ohio. The defendant resided in New York, and had established in that city a mercantile agency, the object of which was to procure information of the pecuniary ability and standing of merchants in the country for merchants in the city, to be communicated to the latter in a confidential manner. The defendant had some twenty clerks who participated in the business of the establishment, and were, of course, privy to the information obtained, whether favorable or unfavorable to the character and credit of the country merchant; and who participated in the communications of the information to their customers or customers' clerks. The plaintiff communicated to one of his clerks to several customers and to their clerks facts seriously affecting the credit of the plaintiff's house; and the main question in the case, on the merits, is whether or not he is exempt from the consequences of the publication, on the ground of its privileged character. The Court charged the jury that if the defendant himself had communicated the information to a person applying to him for the papers in good faith, the communication might have been a privileged one; but that a publicity given to it by recording the libellous words in a book to which others had access, and to whom they were communicated, though standing in the relation of clerks, deprived the communication of its otherwise privileged character. This is no doubt a very important question and involves in its practical operation, whichever way it may be decided, interests of very great magnitude. On the one hand, to legalize these establishments in the unrestricted and to the extent used by the defendant, is placing one portion of the mercantile community under the organized system of espionage and inquisition for the benefit of the other, exposed, from the very nature of their organization, to perversion and abuse; and, on the other, to refuse to legalize them may be restricting injuriously the right of inquiring into the character and standing of the customer asking for credit in his business transactions. We are strongly inclined to think, if the establishments are to be upheld at all, the limitation attached to them by the Court below is not unreasonable, to-wit: that it must be an individual transaction, and not an establishment conducted by an unlimited number of partners and clerks. The principle upon which privileged communications rest, which, of themselves, would otherwise be libelous, imports confidence and secrecy between individuals; and is inconsistent with the idea of a communication made by a society or congregation of persons, or by a private company or corporate body. The other objections in the case are technical in their character, not involving the merits. We have looked into the minutes of opinion they are not available to the defendant. New trial denied.

Dissolution.

THE copartnership heretofore existing under the styles and firms of TAYLOR & McEWEN and TAYLORS, McEWEN & BLEW, is dissolved on this day, by mutual consent of all the copartners.

LIBERAL ADVANCES—Supplies at Wholesale Prices. Commission for selling Cotton, One Dollar per Bale.

To the Cotton Planters of West Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi and Arkansas:

The undersigned respectfully tenders his services as agent for the sale of your cotton in this city, and for the purchase of your supplies. The unfortunate termination of the late war, which so materially affected the best interests of the South, has also had its effect upon the Commission Business of this city, as transacted between planter and merchant. You doubtless well remember with what pertinacity (previous to the war), amounting in some instances to annoyance, you were solicited for your business at the rate of fifty cents per bale commission, free of drayage, and stored for twelve months without charge. Then (as will be again the prospect) was the ruling element, and high rents, rich landlords and mercenants were the result of planters' patronage. As people or occupation have been more seriously prostrated than planters and planting, and none more worthy deserve to be fostered and aided in their unfortunate changed condition. How that aid so much needed has been meted out you require no well know. Onerous governmental taxes in general, and a special tax upon your leading production, Cotton, large prices on all other expenses, as per reference to your accounts sales, as a natural result will leave you but little if anything upon which to rebuild your shattered fortunes, or to compete with the new order of affairs—free labor. When I withdrew from the Cotton and Commission Business in 1859, private reasons then led me to believe that I would never engage in it again. The solicitations of many friends that were former patrons, and a desire to promote the interests of the planting community, so far as my feeble efforts can do so, and the apparent want of gratuitous exhibited to a community that at times past tended so materially to the prosperity of Memphis and its mercantile community, has determined me again to offer my services in the capacity as stated. The reduced stocks of cottons in the United States and short supplies in the hands of New England manufacturers has caused some advance in prices from the late depression, hence early sales may be prudent and remunerative; such, was the case the past two seasons, and many planters have had cause to regret the acting upon the too common practice of holding and drawing upon their cottons. I would advise no planter to send forward his cotton unless he wishes to, as I could upon the first active market. It can be held at home much cheaper than in Memphis. My charges for selling cotton will be One Dollar per bale. Insurance effected in all cases if not instructed to the contrary. Shall buy your supplies from wholesale houses, giving you the benefit of same. In short, by strict attention to all the departments of our business, I hope to merit a large share of patronage.

Very respectfully,
R. A. MOON.

Recommended by distinguished members of the Medical Profession.

THIS Preparation has been for the last twenty years introduced to the public, and it has, by its intrinsic virtues as a remedial agent, secured a remarkable and enviable reputation. Persons who have tried it tender their unqualified testimony in its praise; and it is our candid opinion, based upon observation, that it has already saved hundreds of persons from a premature grave. It has cured cases that baffled the skill of some of the best medical practitioners in the country.

It has cured cases that were considered hopeless. It has given relief in violent Coughs, Colds, Asthma Whooping-Cough, Croup, Bronchitis, Bleeding of the Lungs, and that fell enemy of our race—Consumption!

If you value your life and health, be warned in time, and do not trifle with your Cough and Colds any longer, but immediately procure a bottle or two of this infallible preparation, which is admired by all who have tried it, to be the most valuable and scientific preparation ever offered to the afflicted in all diseases of the Respiratory Organs.

Beware of Counterfeits! Purchase no other remedy! Remember your health—any, life, may depend upon your caution in this particular, and that line is the only reliable remedy ever presented to the afflicted; that not only promptly cures Coughs, Colds, and all diseases of the Throat, Breast and Lungs, but will, in its earlier stages and positively cure Consumption, if this remedy is resorted to in time, and the directions which are ample, are faithfully followed.

Sold by all respectable dealers in drugs in the city of Memphis, and throughout the Southern and Western States.

PRINCIPLES GOVERNING THE CONDUCT OF THE APPEAL.

A GOVERNMENT of white men for white men; and no political miscegenation.

LOYALTY to the Union of the STATES: FIDELITY to the Constitution in its true extent and meaning; Obedience to and maintenance of all law, State and National, constitutionally enacted.

RESISTANCE to Tyranny, Usurpation and Oppression, of one man or many; and to all encroachments upon the rights of freemen or of States, or upon the just and Constitutional prerogatives of any Department of the State or National Governments.

NO ESTABLISHMENT of Military despotisms, no enthroning of martial law, no suspension of the writ of Habeas Corpus, no slaying of citizens by Military Commission, no interference with the Courts, no lettres de cachet, in time of peace.

STRICT SUBORDINATION of the Military to the Civil Power.

NO STANDING ARMIES of States in time of peace.

RESTORATION of disfranchised citizens to all rights and privileges of which they have been divested; no prosecutions or disqualifications for political opinions; for the PAST, oblivion of offences; for the PRESENT and FUTURE UNION, PEACE, LAW and ORDER.

PERPETUAL ASSURANCE to all freemen of the African race, of all the CIVIL rights of freemen.

NO REPUDIATION, by State or Nation, of any honest and lawful debt.

NO REVIVAL of old party differences; but a Union of all Conservative men, of all former parties, who revere the Constitution, to restore the old land-marks of the Government.

NO LEGISLATION to plunder one portion of the country for the profit of another portion.

WHATEVER IS JUST; whatever is RIGHT; whatever is of GOOD REPUTE, and worthy of the descendants of English freemen.

DAWN AFTER THE DARK.

Some months since, we wrote and intended to publish, these despondent words; for then all was dark in the Northern sky, and the South seemed sunken in despair, and men in whom the Southern people had confided, counselling them to accept Reconstruction with negro-suffrage as an inevitable necessity, were leading them, we verily believed, like blind guides, who, having long strained at the gnat were now willing to swallow the camel, into a calamity and horrors even greater and more deadly than those of civil war.

"We had proposed to point out some of the deficiencies of the general law of the land, and in the remedies afforded by law for the enforcement and vindication of legal rights.

"But it seems almost as absurd now to discuss such questions, as it would be to attempt to prove a metaphysical theory to a fellow-passenger, when the ship, blinded with the lightning and staggering under the crushing blows of the tornado, dismasted and leaking, was about to sink in mid-ocean. What is there, that has only an ordinary interest, what questions of the days of peace, that can engage the attention of an apathetic and discouraged people, stunned by the blows of calamity, oppressed by a cynical despotism, almost without faith, and wholly without hope for the future?

"When the Constitution is no longer reverenced, and the guarantees of right are no longer sacred, what matter what becomes of the Statutes?

"Of course it is useless now to endeavour to improve the law. Everything now tends to depravation and deterioration; and the law as to private rights and legal remedies must share the fate of the rest.

"In a country where the political power is placed in the hands of a race incapable of self-government, and that never produced a great man,—a race in which honesty in the man and virtue in the woman are the rare exceptions, and truth and frankness and sincerity are excellencies hardly known, it is idle to expect any ameliorations of the law. A State controlled by negroes is a mockery of republicanism, and will eventually become the shame and reproach of humanity.

"It is therefore a thankless and a hopeless task, to vindicate the Constitution and appeal to the grand-sons of savage MANDINGOES, YORUBAS, GALLAS and FULAS, against outrages upon it, however gross. What does the gentleman of Nigritian lineage, who has laid down the shovel and the hoe to take upon himself the grave responsibilities of an elector, and devote his time, his talents and his acquirements, with the assistance of his obsequious white adulators and sycophants and a pimping Radical press, to the solution of the intricate problems which now torture the clearest and most vigorous intellects,—what does he care for an obsolete and effete Constitution, and laws that restrict the riotous license, which for him is liberty? What is it to him that the laws are defective and remedies denied, if he can sell his vote and fatten on the price.

"One really has little heart to discuss such matters as engage the public attention most in peaceable and well-ordered commonwealth. The country is on the eve of a convulsion, political, financial, economical, that will either shatter it into fragments, or consolidate it into an Empire. Nothing is stable and permanent, neither the principles of free government, nor civil rights, nor the axioms of morality, nor the enactments of reason. It is to be left to a herd of human creatures of the lowest race of humanity, too ignorant, unintelligent, sottish and stupid to be competent to manage their own most trivial affairs of business, to determine by their venal votes, cast at the dictation of petty and unprincipled knaves and political gamesters, what course the rulers of the country shall take, in an emergency which alarms every man who is not besotted or delirious. One who cannot even move or stir to avert the impending ruin, and whose words go but a little way and fall on the stunned and benumbed public heart like drops of water on the sandy beaches of a river in midsummer, feels like saying, with ANTONY:

> "Since the torch is out,
> Lie down, and stray no further."

Heaven be thanked, we may now at least begin to hope. The clouds may not again shut down upon the streak of light along the Northern horizon. Perhaps the time is at hand, when we may say of the South:

> "It is the land that freemen till,
> That sober-suited Freedom chose;
> The land, where, girt with friends or foes,
> A man may speak the thing he will;
> "A land of settled government,
> A land of just and old renown,
> Where Freedom broadens slowly down
> From precedent to precedent."

THE SIMPLE TRUTH.

The New York World says:

There will be no difficulty in obtaining for the Southern negroes a guarantee of perfect equality before the law. If Congress, when they meet, will be disposed to make such a guarantee the condition of immediate restoration, we are confident that every Southern State would promptly ratify a constitutional amendment to that effect, and forthwith (if there be any which have not already done so) bring their whole body of laws into harmony therewith. Will the Times tell us why this would not be a fair, just, and safe method of reconstruction?

Truer words than these were never written. The Southern States never violated the promises which they gave in the Constitution. They never refused to perform the duties required of them by the Constitution. Whatever they promise in respect to the negro they will perform. They will in the most solemn form guarantee to the negro all the civil rights of freemen and citizens; but they will not consent to invest him with the privilege of voting, while he continues to be utterly unfit for it.

It is all nonsense to say that it is necessary to give the negroes the right to vote, because without it they will be defenceless and at the mercy of the whites. And are there not other sides to that question? To give an ignorant and barbarous race the right to vote, in order that they may, with it, protect themselves, is to arm them with a power that they can use and are sure to use to the injury of others. Given to them as a shield, the right becomes in their hands a sword and mace of offence. If you give them the power to disfranchise the white men whom you denounce and warn them against as their enemies, desirous to re-enslave them, they will exercise that power; and how, then, are the disfranchised to protect themselves? For answer to this, we need only point to Tennessee, where even a Judge declares it to be a crime to argue that the government of the State is unconstitutional, or its acts such as ought to entail infamy on the men who govern.

With freedom, and without the right to vote, the negroes might have been labourers useful to the country, increasers of the general wealth, filling with advantage and profit to themselves and all men their allotted place in the scale of humanity. With the right to vote, becoming the mere tools and implements of those men of the baser sort who can by such means only ascend to power; and who

> "Having crawled to the top
> Of this huge mouldering monument of Rome,
> Look round with the more conspicuous eye."

With the right to vote, the legions of African laziness, improvidence, licentiousness and pauperism have become the nuisance, pest and curse of the country which they infest, and which, given over to them as a prey, is about to become like "Satan's infernal Empire, near Heaven's door,"—and which Jacobinism will soon

> "have made one realm,—
> "Hell and this world one realm, one continent
> "Of easy thoroughfare;"

unless its mad career can be stayed as the recent elections give us some hope it may, in the Northern States.

Surely even the men who have been deluded into the advocacy of submission to forced reconstruction and uniting in the poor, miserable business of making their States Provinces of Negrodom, can now see, (for they are neither owls nor bats,) that even the victory of Conservatism in the North will avail us nothing, if we consent and bind and pledge ourselves to negro-suffrage, and by our co-operation make that a self-inflicted curse and degradation, which, if we only submit in silence, will be but the temporary oppression of brutal Power.

"THE FATE OF TENNESSEE."

This peculiar and gloomy combination of words has become the most ominous measure of warning which can be addressed to other States, Provinces and Peoples, to warn them from a certain perdition. Our eyes are met by this warning in nearly every journal we read, both North and South. From Boston to Brownsville on the Rio Grande, its solemn tones are heard to reverberate, "The fate of Tennessee!" Great God! what a fate for a people who have been proud of freedom—who have produced more than one hero and not a few statesmen; whose sons have marched against the iron hail without flinching, and have faced missiles of death with heroic tread! The fate of Mexico—The fate of Poland—the fate of Hungary—the fate of Ireland—the fate of Greece, were once regarded as the acme of misfortune. But "the fate of Tennessee" now marks the culmination and the climax of free-men enthralled, while their late slaves march over their fallen heritage to supremacy and political control. Shades of ANDREW JACKSON and HUGH LAWSON WHITE! for what did you aspire and toil and dare and suffer—to leave your once glorious State and heroic people under the heel of a BROWNLOW and the domination of his negro constituents! Such is the "fate of Tennessee."

Night Dispatches.

[WESTERN ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORTS.]

NEW YORK, October 21.—A Boston correspondent of the Express states that owing to the intimacy of Baron Holstein, of the Prussian Legation, and the wife of Charles Sumner, the latter has procured his withdrawal from Washington. The result of this being that Mrs. Sumner has gone to Europe, and that Sumner's establishment at Washington is closed up. Nothing criminal is alleged.

A Washington special to the Express says Mr. Ewing, of Ohio, a brother-in-law of General Sherman, still has a show for the War Department, and will probably receive the appointment with Gen. Sherman as an adviser in the President's interests.

CINCINNATI, October 21.—The Enquirer presents the name of Geo. H. Pendleton as the choice of the Democracy of Ohio, Kentucky and the Northwest for the next Presidency, upon the platform of the Constitution, with equal justice to all sections of our common country and equality to all—special privileges to none—the same currency for the bondholders that the people are compelled to receive; the prompt payment of the public debt as it falls due, in the legal tender of the nation; the immediate restoration of the Southern States to the Union, with their full share of Representatives in both branches of the Government, as guaranteed by the Constitution; and universal amnesty for all political offenses.

WASHINGTON, October 21.—The Fenian, Gen. O'Neil, has been engaged the past week perfecting the Fenian organization in this city. Their general organization has arms, uniforms, ammunition, and all kinds of war materials already on hand.

The Treasury to-day received a letter from Brooklyn containing a check on the Long Island Bank for $767.

NEW YORK, October 21.—A Nashville special to the Express says the Legislature will act favorably upon the recommendation of Gov. Brownlow for the re-imbursement of loyal citizens for losses sustained during the war.

OTTAWA, October 21.—The official Gazette contains the appointment of Col. Harding as Lieut. Governor of New Brunswick, and Gen. Doyle as Lieut. Governor of Nova Scotia.

LOUISVILLE, October 21.—River falling slowly, with 26 inches in the canal by the mark.

NEW ORLEANS, October 21.—Yellow fever interments for 24 hours ending at 6 o'clock this morning 31.

PARIS, October 20, p. m.—It is rumored to-day that leading European powers will unite with France in a joint intervention for the settlement of the Roman question and the preservation of peace. The French Cabinet has addressed circular notes to its Representatives at foreign Courts, solemnly pledging France to enforce the stipulation of the treaty of September.

The excitement and anxiety created by rumors continually arising here, are very great, and rentes are fluctuating.

LONDON, October 20.—Important official dispatches just received from Paris in relation to affairs in Italy, announced that Italy positively pledged herself to enforce prosecution of the September treaty.

The Paris Patrie says that the French troops were so posted that they could have been marched across the Alps at a moment's notice. This is the decided steps of the Italian Government. This is accepted at Paris as rendering French intervention unnecessary, and the French expedition has, therefore, abandoned the insurgents, in consequence of this unlooked for attitude of King Victor Emanual having evacuated Pontifical territory.

MARSEILLES, October 20.—Accounts received from the island of Candia, announce the arrival of the Turkish Grand Vizier, and others, members of the Commission of Inquiry. The Grand Vizier had met a deputation of Cretan insurgents at Canea, in presence of all the Consuls of foreign powers. The members of the deputation insist upon the union of the island with Greece.

OBITUARY.

EVERETT—Death, the monster, has again laid his ruthless hand upon one of Nature's noblemen. Dr. WILLIAM EVERETT sleeps his last sleep. He slept, we trust, but to wake in the land where the souls of "JUST MEN are made perfect." It was our pride and pleasure to have known him in life, and it fills our souls with sadness to record the passing away of one whose highest aim was but to know his duty, and most willingly and cheerfully to perform the same. He has been called from our midst just at the time when "men's souls were tried"—when none but the brave and the true stood at the post of honor and duty. Long, long, will we and a grateful community cherish with tenderest affection and profound respect the name and memory of our self-sacrificing friend. He fell a victim to yellow fever, whilst in the active performance of their which makes man noblest. None knew him but to love him, and none can name him but to praise him for his great worth and manly virtues.

He was born in Windsor, Vt., but many years ago removed to the great West, and here became identified with western people, life and habits; and though born in a colder clime, his nature was characterized by the warmest and most generous feelings and noble deeds, which will go far to make up the history of a soldier, physician, friend and gentleman. We say this, for we knew him to be all. We knew him when the "touch-stone" was put to his heart, and with grateful pride can say we found him true as steel; and we pray for his afflicted family with that fullness of soul, hoping to be heard, with the same truth that a Heavenly Father his acts of kindness distinguished him when we, too, were under the hand of Providence.

May God, in these hours of deepest gloom, when hope is wan and pale, grow flowers of spring in the hearts of his afflicted family; and though he is now "beyond their recall," may the rose leaves of consolation shed their richest perfume on their hearts. A. K. . . .

VICKSBURG, MISS., October 8, 1867.

IN consequence of the prevalence of yellow fever in the city of Vicksburg, we feel compelled, by the duty we owe to ourselves, our families and employees, to postpone the second preliminary distribution of the Mississippi Agricultural, Educational and Manufacturing Aid Society from the 16th day of October to the 24 of November, 1867.

To give our patrons and the public, at a distance, the necessary time for renewal of Certificates, the third preliminary distribution will be drawn 30th, and the Grand Scheme, December 26, 1867.

We trust that a kind and indulgent public will both excuse and approve of the short postponement.

Correspondents, and persons ordering certificates, are requested to direct their communications to the Secretary at Meridian, Miss., to which place our office is temporarily removed. An authorized agent will remain at Vicksburg to attend to any communications or orders for Certificates.

WANTED—THE PATENT
AURORA OIL.

We want men every where to study their own INTEREST. The right to manufacture and sell the Patent Aurora Oil in a single county will make more money for the purchaser in three months than the largest farm in your State will make in a whole year. The Aurora Oil actually costs less than one-half the prise of Coal Oil, and the illuminating power of the Aurora Oil is much superior to the Coal Oil as the Coal Oil is to a tallow candle, and is as like Coal Oil as to a tallow candle. Any NO NOSE explosive than a tallow candle. Any Lamp that will burn Coal Oil will burn the Aurora Oil. It does not smoke the chimneys—it does not smell—it will not grease or stain the finest linen—not even white cloth. The material for its manufacture is inexhaustible. One man can make seventy-five barrels per day. No machinery required. We will pay your fare to and from the city of Memphis and bills while here, if we cannot prove all, and even more, than we have stated. A single county is a small fortune to the man of enterprise, and the right to a State is untold worth.

PAVING MAIN STREET.—The contractors who have the paving of Main street in hand, are vigorously prosecuting their work. Our citizens may look for the completion of the Nicolson before Christmas.

ROBBING A PERSON.—Mesdames Mary Hagarty and Mary McCarty were arresterday on a warrant issued by Mr. Justice Moore, which charged them with stealing the sum of forty dollars from the person of Jeremiah Hagarty. The accused were lodged in jail, and will have a hearing to-day.

GEORGIA STATE LOTTERY.—For the benefit of the Masonic Orphan's Home, combination class No. 103. The following were the drawn numbers, October 21, 1867:
66-13-55-22-68-67-81-49-67-9-54-32
H. BERKELE, Agent.
No. 21 Adams street.

PERSONAL.—J. Augustine Signiago, Esq., editor of the Grenada (Miss.) Sentinel, is in town, and will call upon our business men to-day. The Sentinel is a good medium for advertising, that section, and merchants should look to it and secure the North Mississippi trade. The Sentinel has a large circulation, and is sound.

MACKEREL ARRESTED.—Three boys, named Richard Delmart, John Raymon and James Henry, were arrested by Officer Kaiser, about two o'clock yesterday morning, at the store of J. D. Williams, on Main street, apparently about to commit a robbery on the premises. They were locked up in the station house, and will be tried for trespass.

SIXTEEN.—At No 16 Jefferson street, our old friend S. D. McClure will be found during business hours, ready and willing to wait on any person desiring life insurance. He represents one of the best companies in the East, and will give binding receipts to applicants when the physician indorses the application. Call and see Mac at No. 16 Jefferson street.

BARBOUR, at 270 Second street, says there is no plan in Life Insurance that gives the insured so many advantages as the Interest-Bearing Plan of the Hartford Life. Ask him about it.

ROW IN A BAGNIO.—The keeper of the notorious house of ill-fame situated on the corner of Second and Poplar streets, made complaint to Justice Miller yesterday that one of her boarders had behaved herself in an unseemly manner, destroying several articles of furniture, etc. Officer Chas. Martin arrested the accused. She will have a hearing to-day.

FALSE PRETENSES.—A man who gives his name as F. M. Moores, was brought to this city yesterday charged with obtaining goods under false pretenses. It appears that the accused obtained quite a stock, alleging that he was going into business. He then decamped. Information was given to the Police, and Officer John Scott sent to work up the case. As usual, this efficient officer succeeded. The accused will come before Justice Moore on Thursday.

BLUFF CITY GIFT AND PREMIUM DISTRIBUTION.—This most popular enterprise which was to have presented its first drawing at Stillman Hall on Wedesday, October 23d, has been transferred to the old United States Court rooms, over Mansfield and Higbee's drug store, No. 370 Main and 305 Main street. The occupation of Stillman Hall by other parties, forced Messrs. Russell & Co. to look for a location elsewhere, which was supplied by the generosity of Dr. Mansfield, who promptly tendered his fine rooms for the occasion. The gifts and premiums (all cash) will be promptly distributed to the fortunate ticket holders as per advertisement.

EMMONS & SON, No. 10 Jefferson street and 336 Main street, have received: Police Gazette, London News, London Punch, Rural New Yorker, Scientific American, Round Table, Nation, Scottish American, Observer, Weekly Herald, Country Gentleman, German Leslie, True Flag, American Union, Literary Companion, Southern Society, Italian Papers, Army and Navy Journal, Police News, London Daily Times, Harper's Bazaar for Ladies, Harpers Magazine, Catholic World, Galaxy, all for November; Madame Demorest's Bulletin of Children's Fashions, for the Fall and Winter of 1867-8.

NEW MEMPHIS THEATER.—This favorite place of amusement was well filled last night to witness the debut of the talented and charming young actress, Miss Emily Melville. The beautiful play of Fanchon, the Cricket, was produced, Miss Melville appearing as "Fanchon." With the exception of Miss Maggie Mitchell, this young lady is the best cricket we have ever seen. Her dancing is a little defective, but that is easily remedied. Her rendition of the character is natural and true to life. Her elocution is perfect. She speaks her lines correctly and sings excellently. Here engagement lasts two weeks, during which time several specialities will be presented.

Mrs. Allen played "Old Faded" very acceptably, but in one scene of the second act she was a little too hasty, making too long steps, etc. Miss Pierson gave a good rendition of "Madelon," but unfortunately did not have an opportunity of displaying her vocal powers. Mr. Ellerton done "Didier" excellently well, never failing to bring down the house on his every appearance. To-night the Pearl of Savoy will be produced, the star appearing in the principal character.

A GOOD MAN DEAD.—Among the many victims to the prevailing epidemic along our Southern coast, there comes to us the name of one whose loss will be more sincerely regretted than that of Father Pont, whose death occurred at Pass Christian. Ever a devout and consistent Christian, his humble piety and devotion, as evidenced in the hospitals around Pensacola during the first year of the war, endeared him to hundreds, at whose side he knelt, restoring to health in some instances by careful nursing and that cheerful, happy smile, which had a powerful influence for good, and in others administering the last sacraments of his church to the poor soldier just about to pass away forever. The Natchez Democrat says: "Father Pont was ordained in this city, by Archbishop Blanc, about the year eighteen hundred and fifty-five, and was for sometime acting pastor of St. Mary's Cathedral. At the beginning of the war he left this city with the Quitman Light Artillery, and went to Pensacola, where he was for a long time a Chaplain of the troops, with the rank of Major. Subsequently, he was stationed at Jackson, Miss., Mobile and other places, until appointed pastor of Pass Christian. Wherever he went his simple piety, urbanity of manner and sweetness of disposition gained him the reverence of Catholics and endeared him to all with whom he came in contact. This was observable in the fact that his funeral at the Pass was attended by almost every person resident there. Father Pont was a native of Brittany, in France, and died at the early age of thirty-five.

Where shall we find one to fill the vacuum? On whose shoulders will now fall the stainless ermine, yet redolent with genius, with learning, and with honor? I appeal to the mind and heart of every one of us for an answer. And there comes back a voiceless echo. None can answer. His loss is irreparable.

The Committee on Resolutions having returned, their chairman, Thomas H. Smith, Esq., introduced the resolutions with the following remarks:

REMARKS OF THOS. G. SMITH, ESQ.

It is customary to pronounce words of eulogy over our departed friends, but in this instance it is no idle ceremony in which we are engaged; no mere idle words without meaning that come to our lips. Our friend, now gone on that last sad journey, where we must soon follow him, possessed those qualities which go to make up the true lawyer in an eminent degree—a mind clear as crystal, an intellect large and far seeing, a knowledge of his profession profound and accurate, a quickness of perception absolutely dazzling, the quality of expressing in a few words the principles lying at the bottom of any given case, and a high bravery leading him to apply to all cases the true rules of law without fear or favor. All these went to make him an ornament to his profession, an able and most incorruptible Judge. These qualities, lost to the profession he loved so well, lost to the community of whose dearest rights he was so brave a defender, give to this occasion a melancholy interest and enshroud our hearts in mourning.

While we feel this common grief as our common loss, there are other considerations moving the hearts of all who have known our dead brother in the intimacy of social friendship. Possessing within himself all those qualities which give men self reliance, and which make them "never less alone than when alone," he had comparatively a small number of intimate associates. But there are in this assemblage, who, in common with myself, have known and loved him for nearly twenty years. And in the delightful intercourse of private friendship, when he would lay off for a time the cares and troubles and dignities of outward life, we saw that great soul, innocent, pure and simple as a child, reveling in a perfect wealth of tenderness and kindness, gay and mirthsome, and delighting in all those pleasantries which enliven without corrupting our social intercourse; making us all feel that there was nothing artificial or unreal in his attachment and sending us away with a higher and purer idea of human nature. It was these pleasant moments of natural gayety, that his friends grew to him, as it were, and it is the recollection of these moments, now alas! gone forever, that causes our very hearts to weep. But he has gone! an Inscrutable Providence has seen fit to call him away suddenly; and has taken from us an upright and able Judge, a lawyer of the highest ability and purest character, a friend most gentle and tender. May he rest in peace! May we, his survivors and comrades, testify our appreciation of his character by emulating his virtues, so that when the sun of our day shall sink to rest beneath the clouds of the West, those clouds shall reflect for a time as these are doing to-day the roseate glories of a life well spent, of virtues worthy to be remembered.

Mr. Smith then read the resolutions of the Committee.

RESOLUTIONS.

WHEREAS, The melancholy intelligence of the sudden death of the Hon. Thomas Smith, late Judge of the Law Court of this city, has been communicated to the members of the Memphis Bar, who have this day assembled to take steps to express in some suitable manner their regrets for his untimely death, their esteem for his virtues, and their sincere respect for his memory; therefore Resolved, That the Memphis Bar have heard with painful sensibility of the sudden death of the Hon. Thomas G. Smith, at a moment when he was in the vigor of his intellect and the full sphere of his professional usefulness had begun.

Resolved, That Judge Smith, as a lawyer, was justly entitled to professional distinction; as an impartial, upright and able Judge, was an ornament to the Bench; and that we cherish his memory with tender recollections of esteem.

Resolved, That the death of Judge Smith is not only a source of private grief to the members of the legal profession, but, at a time like this, may be said to be a public calamity to this city.

Resolved, That the members of the Memphis Bar tender to Hon. Wm. M. Smith, our worthy Chancellor, and to the family of the deceased, our most heartfelt sympathy in this dark hour of their bereavement.

Resolved, That the Chairman of this meeting appoint members of the Bar to present these resolutions to each of the courts of this city, to the Federal Court, and to the Supreme Court of Tennessee, with a request that they be spread upon the minutes of each court. And that the Secretary be directed to furnish a copy of these proceedings to the Hon. Wm. M. Smith, and to the family of the deceased.

Judge J. T. Swayne arose to second the adoption of the resolutions, and with evident feelings of deep emotion, said:

REMARKS OF JUDGE SWAYNE.

Mr. Chairman:—I cannot trust myself to do more than second the resolutions. The deceased was the friend, the companion of my early manhood. We commenced the practice of our profession at the same time, twenty-five years ago. I saw him on the day he left the city; he was the same Thomas G. Smith. I knew that he was twenty-five years ago, with all his excellency of character, and high and noble qualities which have been delineated in the resolutions just read, and in the remarks which have been made. I will not undertake to do more—I feel I cannot trust myself to do more—than to second the adoption of the resolutions.

The resolutions were then unanimously adopted.

The Chair appointed the following named gentlemen to preside at the resolutions of the meeting to the several courts, viz; Chancery Court, Thos. R. Smith; Law Court, L. D. McKisick; U. S. Court, Landon C. Haynes; Circuit Court, Lewis Bond; Criminal Court, George Gantt; Municipal Court, J. T. Swayne; Supreme Court, E. M. Yerger.

On motion of Judge Hart, the proceedings were directed to be published in the daily papers of the city.

On motion of R. B. Miller, Esq., it was resolved that the members of the Bar wear the usual badge or mourning for thirty days.

On motion, the Clerks of the several Courts were requested to close their several offices during the day, as a mark of respect to the memory of the deceased.

On motion, the meeting then adjourned.

ARCHIBALD WRIGHT, President.
G. P. FOUTE, Secretary.

Correspondence

W. C. Thompson, Esq., Manager New Memphis Theater:

Dear Sir: Like yourself, we have learned with the most profound sorrow how much destitution and distress has been caused in the city of Memphis by the sickness with which Providence has afflicted it. We earnestly desire to do something, however little, to relieve and to comfort those with whom we are mutual sympathize, and who in their mute sufferings so eloquently appeal to us. If they are not homeless, their homes are comfortless; if they are not friendless, their friends are powerless in these days of general distress to help them. We can do but little, but that little we offer. We propose to volunteer our services for Wednesday evening next, at a benefit to be given for the destitute of our own sex and their children, and no doubt that you will be pleased to assist in that good task. Use of the New Memphis Theater for the night, and we also hope for such aid otherwise as you may feel able to give us, and that the company will also assist us in endeavoring to alleviate the distress which appeals so strongly to us, and to all who can do so, to relieve it.

We are, dear sir, most respectfully and truly yours,
EMILIE MELVILLE,
LADY E. DON.

NEW MEMPHIS THEATER, Oct. 21, 1867.

Miss Emilie Melville and Lady Don: Your very kind note, sympathizing with the sick of Memphis, and tendering your services to give a benefit for their relief at the New Memphis Theater, is this moment received, and I will most cheerfully aid you in your efforts as far as in my power lies. Respectfully,
W. C. THOMPSON.

A GOOD HOUSE.—We invite the special attention of our friends in Tennessee and the adjoining States, to the card of settlement in another column of the house of Galbreath, Stewart & Co. One member of the firm is the old and well known merchant, W. B. Galbreath, who gives his sole attention to the factorage of cotton, which is a specialty in the business of the house; and his experience and sound judgment gives assurance that the interests of its clients, whose crops come to its hands for sale will be well and carefully attended to. Mr. William Stewart, an old and well known citizen, educated as a merchant, devotes his personal attention to the purchase of the supplies to be kept for sale. Mr. Andrew Stewart is in charge of the New Orleans house, Stewart, Galbreath & Fizer, also a merchant of large experience and sound judgment; and that gallant gentleman, Gen. John C. Fizer, whose name is dear to us all, is the salesman, and gives his personal attention to the grocery department. Whatever the house advertises it will always be prepared to furnish, of the very best quality, and at prices as low as they are to be had of any house in the city. They will continue to merit the confidence of the planters and to deserve a liberal share of the public patronage, and we hope will receive both, for no house, perhaps, has made more liberal advances this year to assist the planters of the country, or has supplied their needs more liberally and generously.

A GOOD MAN GONE.

DEATH OF REV. DR. DAVIS.

Remarks of Dr. Ford During the Funeral Services on Sunday.

The demise of so good a man as the Rev. Dr. Davis has caused more than ordinary grief and sorrow in the community, and we pay our meet of tribute to his memory. He was a faithful minister of the Gospel, a good Christian and charitable gentleman. Dr. Davis was a native of this State, and died in the forty-second year of his age. We well remember that about the time his church, on Court street, was finished, he received the degree of Doctor of Divinity from the college at Princeton, Ky., and none could have worn the title better. One of his last remarks was, "It is hard to be struck down and cut off from friends and family, but my time has come; God doeth all things well." His eight years pastorship furnishes a good record. We are satisfied that the following remarks of Dr. Ford will be read with interest. He knew the deceased well and speaks feelingly:

The chamber where the good man meets his fate, is privileged beyond the common walks of life. But few chambers of even the good and holy can be compared in their holy influence with that where he who lies still in death before us met his end. Dr. Davis preached in this house on last Sabbath, the 13th of October, on the passage of Scripture, "Be careful for nothing but in all things with prayer and supplication and thanksgiving, make your requests known unto God." Up to that time he expressed himself as feeling remarkably well, and repeatedly said, "I never felt better in my life." He had been to Kentucky during the summer, and when he returned he said, "I weigh twenty pounds more than I did when I left." He never looked better or seemed more cheerful. He would now read a few more notes made during the last illness of Dr. Davis by one of the medical attendants, Dr. Snyder, which would prove both interesting and instructive.

On the night of the Sabbath referred to, Dr. Davis was taken ill. He had some chilliness followed by violent reaction, and all of the phenomena attendant upon the worst forms of remittent fever. These symptoms continued with slight abatement every evening until Thursday morning, when the storm subsided but did not go off. On Friday afternoon he again troubled him occasionally. On Saturday morning after some hours of sound sleep, he awoke with the hiccough greatly aggravated; black vomit soon followed, and other symptoms indicated his approaching end. He seemed conscious of the fact and asked, "Am I dying?" When informed that he would not probably recover, he exclaimed, "Bless the Lord, forever and ever!—this is what I said for Mollie's benefit and her mother's," (his oldest daughter and wife.) "It is what I said when they came down stairs," (they had been ill with the fever.") His oldest son, Charley, being brought to his bed-side, he said to him with great fervor, "May the Lord bless you my son! Always speak the truth—be a good boy—avoid everything wrong, because it is mean." He then turned to his family physician and said, "Doctor I am happy!" His friend replied, "You are on the rock." "Yes," with emphasis he responded, "I am safe! Bless the Lord forever and ever!" Soon after he commenced singing aloud that favorite hymn beginning with, "How tedious and tasteless the hours," in which those of his friends present, who could, joined, for the hearts of some were too full to follow him. After a pause he exclaimed, "Oh! is it possible that I shall soon be in heaven!—that I shall soon be in glory with Abraham, Isaac and Jacob!" He then prayed, "Lord, let me have no fear—let me be free from doubt—let me triumph gloriously!" Soon afterwards he repeated the whole of the 23d Psalm, and then called for the reading of other Psalms. After they were read he said, "That tells us what we are to be. We are to rejoin with Christ forever and forever!" His little son, Harry, being presented, he said to him, "Harry, they say your father is dying. Be a mighty good boy, my son." To his loving wife he said, "My dear wife, put your whole trust in Christ. The Lord will provide. I commend you and the children to Him and to the word of His grace." He several times repeated the words of Paul: "For our light affliction, which is but for a moment, worketh for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory." Dr. Ford then said, on Friday, as I have just stated, a marked change for the worse took place. I entered his room in the evening, and after sitting a while in silence, he beckoned me to his bedside, and commenced telling me how and when he took sick. I told him I knew it all, and that I trusted that God had still work for him to do, and would spare him. He said: "The Lord can carry on his work without me; I submit entirely to His will"—"my trust is in the blood and righteousness of the Redeemer." He asked me to pray for him, which I did, and left him, feeling hopeful of his recovery, and a joyful admiration of the man and his full faith in Christ, which language would fail to express. There was in the man's whole manner and look a loftiness and trust really sublime. On Saturday morning his physician called upon him. He asked him, "Is there any hope for me? Do you think I am going to die?" The answer was silence accompanied with tears. Rev. Dr. Steadman, Rev. Mr. Witherspoon, and Rev. Mr. Graves had now arrived. He told them he was going to die, and repeated aloud the whole of the 23d Psalm. Prayer was then offered, and he joined in it with a calm resignation. This was about 10 a.m. Through the lingering hours of the day he frequently asked the time, and to each one who entered, addressed himself with calmness, recommending the religion he had preached to them, and exhorting them to meet him in heaven. "Tell your people," said he to Dr. Graves and myself, "that I die in this faith—faith in Jesus." "It may seem singular," said he, "to some people that a professor of religion and a minister of the gospel dying should say, as I feel, that 'I am a poor sinner, deserving of nothing,' but this is a part of religion. Religion may be said to have two halves to it; one half to know and feel yourself a sinner; the other half to know that Christ is your Savior." He repeated with touching emphasis the 51st Psalm—"Have mercy on me, oh God! according to Thy loving kindness," and when his memory failed in repeating it, he called on me to read the remainder while he made remarks, most striking and affecting, on almost every verse. I then turned to the 28th Psalm and read down to the words, "Wait upon the Lord and be of good courage," when he interrupted me, saying, "Now let us wait—wait upon the Lord. Lord, I wait for Thee; I shall soon be in glory." He requested—naming the page in a hymn book from memory—that a favorite song of his should be sung. Tasked him what tune. He answered "Mear," and said, "I will start it;" and he did, with a calm, steady voice, and we joined with him in singing it. In the course of the evening Rev. Mr. Graves read to him the 8th of Romans. He anticipated the reading, repeating much of it himself. When the 15th verse was reached, "For ye have not received the spirit of bondage again unto fear, but ye have received the spirit of adoption whereby we cry 'Abba Father,'" he exclaimed, "I would not give that glorious doctrine for worlds." He soon after complained of darkness; his sight and hearing began to fail; but he retained his memory and general consciousness clear until about 4 p.m. At fifteen minutes after four he turned himself and seemed to be in great agony. We all prayed in deep anguish, that that would be spared us, and God would permit him to die without a struggle. Our prayer was answered; he breathed calmly, and evidently without pain and in entire silence for about ten minutes, and then, without a pang or struggle, he sweetly fell asleep in Jesus. "Blessed are the dead that die in the Lord." I am reminded that twelve years ago today, the Rev. Dr. Porter departed this life, and this fact was now more forcibly brought to their memories by the sudden death of their late beloved pastor. I trust that the death of our dear brother Davis will be a lesson of wisdom to us who are left behind, and that we shall all strive so to live that our end may be as peaceable as his proved to be, and that we may all meet him in the heaven above.

AT A MEETING of the members of the Memphis Bar, held at the Criminal Court room on the 21st day of October, 1867, Capt. T. W. Brown was called to the chair, and V. B. Waddell, Esq., requested to act as secretary. The Chairman, in a brief yet touching address announced the object of the meeting to be to pay a suitable tribute of respect to the memory of a departed brother, Breckinridge F. Blackburn, Esq. On motion the following gentlemen were appointed a committee to draft suitable resolutions expressive of the sense of the meeting; Col. C. S. Cameron, Chairman, T. D. Eldridge, Esq., J. B. Heiskell, Esq., E. J. Beecher, Esq., and John F. Sale, Esq. On motion of Col. Henry N. Hart, it was Resolved, That the members of the bar attend the funeral of the deceased in a body.

On motion of Col. G. P. Foute, the following members of the bar were appointed pall-bearers: C. S. Cameron, J. R. Flippin, D. E. Myers, J. W. Westcott, D. H. Paston, S. P. Rose, Geo. T. Hubbard and C. W. Hutchinson, Esqrs.

The meeting then adjourned, to meet again at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning, 22d, when the Committee on resolutions will report.

BARBOUR, at 270 Second street, says there is no plan in Life Insurance that gives the insured so many advantages as the Interest-Bearing Plan of the Hartford Life. Ask him about it.

A Good Example.—The many thousands who had learned to love and venerate the late Gen. Sterling Price, of Missouri, were doubtless deeply gratified to learn that, after passing through the storm and wreck of civil war, he had been prudent enough to have secured a policy of $10,000 on his life to leave his family. Never before were we so forcibly impressed with the benevolent tendency of life insurances. In the hour of deepest misfortune this provision comes in to shelter the sufferer from the "chill blast of penury." It was but a short time since, that upon the death of one of our esteemed citizens, Mr. D. L. Heiskell, the press generally noticed the promptness with which the policy upon his life was paid by the St. Louis Mutual Life Insurance Company, and we were induced to inquire into the subject, with the view of answering the many who appeal to an editor for information and advice. We learned that this company was already so highly appreciated and so extensively patronized as to place it in the very foremost rank of such institutions. A list of its patrons twenty or thirty feet long was shown, from which we discover not only that life insurance is extensively appreciated by our most intelligent citizens everywhere, but that the St. Louis Mutual was apparently the favorite company, its popularity, we believe, is not only based upon its ample capital, but upon the fact that it is really a Western institution, carried on by men in whom the highest confidence is reposed. We do not hesitate, therefore, to advise those who that where he who lies still in death before us met his end. Dr. Davis should sustain. That there are many indeed, who have never yet thought of it seriously, who ought to fortify themselves with a policy, is shown by the fact, generally conceded, that more than nine-tenths of all who engage in mercantile pursuits fail to achieve success and independence.—Louisville Evening Standard.

Notice to the Public.

IN retiring from the Drug business in this city we would give notice that we have sold our entire Stock, together with the Fixtures, Lease, etc., of the well-known stand, No. 318 Main street, to Dr. J. B. WASSON & CO., to whom we wish our former successors and after returning our heartfelt thanks to our numerous patrons and friends who have so liberally favored us during our continuation of business, we solicit for our successors a continuation of the same. As to the character and qualifications of our successors in this branch of trade, their reputation is too well and favorably known in this city and throughout the country generally for us to be able in anything we might here state to add thereto. Suffice it to say they are of long and tried experience in this branch of business, and therefore most cordially recommend a continuation of our patronage with this
JOHN A. NIPGEN.
The unsettled business of NIPGEN & REAKIRT and JOHN NIPGEN will be settled by either of the old partners at the old stand.
JOHN A NIPGEN,
NIPGEN & REAKIRT.

To the Public.

IN having made the above purchase and resumed business at the old and well known stand, No. 318 Main street, we have to say often and for so many long years of sunshine and adversity met our old friends and patrons; and as a train of unforseen providential circumstances have shifted us around to our former place of business, it is with feeling of earnest congratulation that we are again prepared to offer to our former patrons and the public generally a large and well selected Stock of Drugs, Medicines, etc., etc., and indeed every thing usually kept in a first-class and well conducted Drug store, to which we are now adding, and will continue to add constantly, fresh supplies of the most desirable and choice Articles the markets can afford. And as we shall import from foreign markets direct, and from first hand dealers, we therefore, by saying "Big House" the Drug Emporium of the South," we would, therefore, hold out special inducements, to both Wholesale and Retail Dealers in the city and country, to give us a call, examine and price our stock, and purchasing elsewhere, for we are determined, by our close vigilance in the markets of this and foreign countries, as well as with sound, practical judgment in making our purchases, so as to be able, with the choice quality of our stock in the low prices we will offer them at, to be able to vie with and even defy competition. Anxiously hoping, therefore, that those propositions (for we intend to make good to the letter all we have proposed), will meet with the hearty concurrence of our old friends and patrons and the community generally. We are, very respectfully, yours, etc,

THE MEMPHIS APPEAL

SONG OF THE DEAD.
BY EDWARD E. MORRIHEAD.

Comrades of the silent land,
Wakeless sleepers of the tomb,
Swell the pale and ghostly band
Gathered in the midnight gloom!
Darkness rules the middle world,
Sleep is on the sons of night;
Life hath not a sail unfurled
'Mid the shadows of the night!

Only we, the wept and lost;
Only we the sons of death;
Only we, the sleeping host;
Only we, who draw no breath;
We, the slimy and the cold;
We, the ghastly and the dread;
We, whom earth nor air can hold;
Only we the night winds tread.

Come from every varied clime,
Spring fit in every mingled race,
Living on through endless time,
Knowing naught of ill to face,
What care we for war and storm,
Suff-ring, agony and woe?
What heed we the cares that swarm
Round the haughty and the low?

Honored 'mid the waking hours,
Mourned with tear, and groan and sigh;
Hem-ed in mansions wreathed in flowers;
Crowned with virtues all a lie;
However black the life before,
Sacred now, revered by all;
Who would fly the shadowy shore?
Who would answer life's recall?

Glory to the ghostly land!
Glory to the pulseless state!
Glory to the midnight band
Armed against the blade of fate!
Earth and air, and fire and light,
All are slaves, while we are free;
Lift your voices on the night,
They shall cross the whitest sea!

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

OFFICE OF THE DAILY APPEAL, }
MEMPHIS, October 21, 1867. }

As an illustration of the closeness of our money market, we can do no better than to state that one of our national banks is reported to have borrowed recently the sum of $10,000, for which it pays 2 per cent. per month. No better evidence could be added of a stringent state of finances in our community. The cotton bills offered are only taken from regular customers, and rates are firm at ½c off in all cases—selling to customers and outsiders at par to ¼ premium.

Gold opened in New York at 146, and closed at 145¾c. The buying rate in this market was 142@142½c, but sales were very small.

Silver is nominal at 32@33c buying.

The market for Scrip is dull, with little offering, while dealers are well supplied. Some small lots changed hands to-day at 40c—selling by brokers at 45@46c.

County Warrants are not in demand. We quote them nominally 75c buying, selling at 80 @82c.

Police Scrip has been very quiet for some days. Dealers offer 75c, and sell at 80@82c.

Persons traveling about the country as the agents of manufacturers or dealers, seeking orders for goods, as agents of one person or firm only, and who are paid a salary but receive no commission whatever, should not be required to pay tax as produce or commercial brokers. (Section 3, No. 4, page 12.) It would seem that by commissions, or acts for more than one person, firm, company or corporation, he is liable to taxation. The foregoing exemption applies only to salaried agents or persons who have paid special taxes as dealers or manufacturers.

The Cuban Cable company received $2000 the first day the cable was open to the public.

Letters are being constantly received at the office of the Comptroller of the Currency from country banks, asking if three per cent. certificates can be used by them in place of legal tenders as a reserve in bank. This cannot be done, the law authorizing the issue of the three per cent. certificates providing "that not less than two-fifths of the entire reserve of such bank shall consist of lawful money of the United states."

The Cincinnati says that Mr. McCulloch's whole course since his appointment has been marked by his subservicncy to the bond holding aristocracy—as a kind of appendage to Mr. Chase and Jay Cooke's broker shops. Either from weakness and imbecility or from downright corruption he has lost to the treasury by one transaction in the sale of gold, through a Mr. Van Dyke, a member of his family, some thirty or forty millions of gold, all to the interests of the few favorites who "bought" the gold. He has issued tens of millions of six per cent. gold interest bonds in exchange for paper for which the government was paying no interest—and he has within the past six months exchanged gold interest bonds for greenback interest bonds, and paid a premium for the latter to the extent of hundreds of millions; that, too, while gold was at a premium of from forty to fifty per cent.

At the close of the war, now nearly two years, he promised that in a brief space he would restore the country to a specie currency. And what are the facts? He has so curtailed the currency by keeping $30,000,000 in the treasury for the use of pet banks or for private gain that with a nominal circulating medium of seven or eight hundred millions, for less than half the actual business before the war when we had but $300,000; money was never scarcer, nor did the bankers and brokers ever extract higher rates of interest from the producing classes than they do now, and instead of an approximation to specie payments, gold rules as high on the average now as at any time since the surrender of Lee.

S. H. TOBEY, President. ED. C. KIRK, Cashier.

The Cotton market opened very quiet this morning, and until the receipt of the opening New York dispatch, there was but one buyer on the market. He offered 16c for Middling, but paid 16½c as a general thing. The New York market opened very firm, and holders were asking 16¾c, and rates thus maintained the close on Saturday. The opening dispatch quoted ordinary 15½@16c; Good ordinary, 17½c; Low Middling, 16½c; Middling, 17c (evidently an error—Ed.); Good Middling, 22½c; Mobile, 20½; Orleans, 20½. The closing report quoted fair demand, prices firm and unchanged with sales for the day of 3000 bales. Our market improved after the New York dispatch came in, and more buyers made their appearance seeking Middling, however, at 16½c with but a very limited degree of success. The same cause which gave them nerve created more back-bone with buyers, and 17c was the figure upon which their eyes were cast. The market was on the whole not active but firm as follows:

Inferior	8 @ 11
Ordinary	12½ @ 13½
Good Ordinary	14 @ 15
Low Middling	15½ @ 16
Middling	16½ @ 16¾

Mr. C. W. Siemen has patented in England a process for reducing steel and iron directly from the ore by exposing the ore, in a finely divided state, to the rich hydrocarbons petroleite through the medium of ore in a transverse direction towards the heated surface. By the passage of the gases the ore is reduced and carbonized, and the melting surface of the mass being enveloped in an atmosphere of reducing gas or flame the reoxidation of the reduced metal is prevented.

A shipmaster, whose vessel carried a cargo of cotton recently from New Orleans to Liverpool, exhibited in the latter city a box of lucifer matches, which was accidentally discovered in a bale of cotton which was being placed on the vessel at New Orleans. Whether the matches were placed in the bale by accident or design is not known, but it is said this is not the first time such a discovery has been made.

The cheerful promises of Abolition financiers of abundant crops and low prices, says the Cincinnati Enquirer, are the ears from a "sow" during the summer of this year, as they did last, are, like all other promises of that party, delusions. It is now admitted that so far as the West is concerned, wheat and hay are the only average crops—all others are far short of the usual yield—and wheat is largely finding its way into the hands of the agents of the National Banks, to be monopolized by them; and the shortness of fall feed necessitates the early feeding of hay to stock, so that the country is threatened with another year of famine prices and high rates for all the necessaries of life such as are derived from the soil.

Cotton will not probably be more than a third of a crop in the Southern States, as compared with years before the war, while the encouragement given to its production, by the Abolitionists, in India, South America, Egypt, etc., under the cheap labor of Coolie slaves, introduced there by English and other philanthropists, has brought down the price here to about fifteen cents in greenbacks or about thirteen cents in gold, which after deducting the cotton tax is about equal to what it brought before the war, when it could be grown for one-third of its present cost. And as the negroes become more worthless every year under Congressional regulations, it is probable that this staple will diminish from year to year, till the South will at length find it difficult to raise her own breadstuffs, and will add nothing in the way of public taxes to the support of our enormously expensive government.

The Newburyport Herald says the manufacturing corporations in New England for the making of cotton and woolen goods are now doing badly. Only those with the most approved machinery, or at work on fancy goods, are paying their way.

It is reported that several United States steamers were sold Saturday at Brooklyn, but no particulars were given.

RIVER MATTERS.

WEATHER AND RIVERS.

Sunday was a clear and beautiful day, and yesterday was not behind it, but indications of rain were more prominent last night than for sometime previous. The river at this point declines slowly, almost imperceptibly. There is some difference of opinion among pilots as to channel depth to Cairo, but from four and a half to five feet, the general reports made by them. A slight swell at Louisville is reported, but there is no change in the lower Ohio. White river is in bad condition, with not more than thirty-four inches at Little Island. The following special dispatch gives the depth in the Arkansas from the mouth to Pine Bluff:

PINE BLUFF, October 19, 1867.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Business was tolerably active on the landing to-day. Although our local packets did not get much freight there was a large amount received by the Belle Memphis, McCune and one or two other boats.

The Commercial is the regular United States mail packet for White river to-day. She connects with the trains for Little Rock, and with steamers for all points above Augusta. Capt. William Ashford is master and Mr. Morton is chief clerk. He is assisted by Smithers and Robinson.

The Natoma, Capt. Cummings, is the regular St. Francis river packet, leaving at 5 p.m. to-day. Ed. Smith is her efficient chief clerk.

The Des Arc will get away at 5 p.m., for Vicksburg and the bends. She is the regular United States mail packet, and will leave without fail. Capt. John D. Elliott is master and Cad Hanks is chief clerk. Mat. Glass checks off the freight in his usual masterly manner. The Des Arc connects with the Gen. Quitman regularly at Vicksburg.

The Centralia and Minnie are both loading at St. Louis for White river.

The ferry boat Rockford has again changed hands. Capt. Basey has recently purchased her for $1500, and takes her to Brunswick, Mo.

We learn that the J. D. Perry will enter the Memphis and Vicksburg trade, and will leave here on Saturday next.

Ben. Frame is afloat again, and is master of the Natoma's deck. On this, his first trip, he brought up 351 bales of cotton, 35,000 feet of lumber, 25,000 shingles and 122 bodies of Federal soldiers from Helena for interment in the cemetery at this place. Ben. is an old and No. 1 Mate. Ed. Smith, the assistant clerk of the Natoma, is a popular officer.

The Rose Hambleton had not arrived from above when we left the landing last night. She will probably be in this morning.

The Commercial had not arrived at a late hour last evening, but was momentarily expected to come in sight.

The J. S. McCune put her freight off on the City wharfboat. She leaves today at 5 p.m. for Cairo and Louisville. Capt. Duffer is master and Mr. Duff is clerk.

The Rose Hambleton, Capt. William Elliott, will leave to-day at 5 p.m. for all points on White river to Jacksonport.

The steamer Myrtle will leave on Saturday for Vicksburg and all points on the Yazoo and Tallahatchie rivers. Capt. Hardwick commands.

The barge-load of freight brought out of the Ohio by the Bertha is still lying below the City wharfboat. It is so badly mixed up that New Orleans boats won't touch it.

Bill Hicks, Mate of the Lizzie Gill, arrived in town yesterday just in time to get aboard his packet before she left for St. Louis. It will be remembered that he was foolishly charged with knocking a man overboard at our landing on the down trip of the boat. He was confined in the Vicksburg jail five days, and was made to pay his board at that institution, but was released after proving his innocence.

The wife of Capt. John W. Cannon is lying dangerously ill at the Louisville hotel.

The Marble City, Capt. Conway, is the regular St. Louis packet for 5 p.m. today. She connects at Cairo with the trains for points North and East. Mr. Masson is clerk.

The Steamboat Convention adjourned Saturday at noon. A resolution was adopted asking Congress to make appropriations sufficient to pay the debt of the canal, and to finish it and make it forever free.

The hull of the new steamer Bismarck, recently built at St. Louis, is now receiving her machinery. She will be ready for a fall or winter rise.

Mr. Billy Clark, clerk of the Mollie Hambleton,
